BAR ARCHITECTS PROMOTES FOUR STAFF MEMBERS TO SENIOR ASSOCIATES

San Francisco—BAR Architects has promoted four of its staff members to senior associates, announced Chris Haegglund, AIA, LEED AP, principal of the firm. They are Patricia Centeno, Tom Nelson, Zach Prowda, and Bradley Sugarman.

Patricia Centeno, LEED AP, has more than 20 years of experience, with an emphasis on multifamily and affordable housing. Her projects at BAR include 38 Dolores, a mixed-use infill development in San Francisco; Alchemy by Alta (Alta Laguna), a 330-unit multifamily community in San Francisco; and two mixed-use multifamily buildings at Bay Meadows in San Mateo. She is a member of the Urban Land Institute, the Non-Profit Housing Association of Northern California, and the San Francisco Housing Action Coalition. She received her bachelor of arts in architecture degree from the University of California, Berkeley.

Tom Nelson, AIA, LEED Fellow, has 30 years of experience. His projects include higher education, science, health, mixed-use, residential, hospitality, retail, office, civic, and cultural facilities. His projects at BAR include Mission Bay Housing at the University of California, San Francisco; the mixed-use Milpitas Landmark Towers in Milpitas; and Tech Housing in Silicon Valley. A member of the American Institute of Architects, Society of College and University Planners, Urban Land Institute, and U.S. Green Building Council, he received his bachelor of architecture and bachelor of science degrees from Kent State University.

Zach Prowda, LEED AP BD+C, has seven years of experience. His projects at BAR include Candlestick Point Blocks 6A & 8A in San Francisco; the Seawall 330 mixed-use development for the Golden State Warriors in San Francisco; and Alchemy by Alta (Alta Laguna), a multifamily development in San Francisco. He received his master of architecture from the University of Oregon, Portland, and his bachelor of architecture from the University of California, Berkeley.

Bradley Sugarman, AIA, LEED AP, brings over 20 years of planning and designing multifamily, commercial and hospitality projects. His experience includes the master plan for the 15-acre mixed-use project Foster Square in Foster City; Foster Square Senior Housing, an affordable senior housing development within Foster Square; and the mixed-use/residential Alameda Point Parcel 11 in Alameda. He received his master of architecture from Tulane University School of Architecture in New Orleans.
